Description: Next Steps isn't a class to check off—it's the first step in our discipleship pipeline and the front door to truly belonging at Dayspring. It's where we get clear on what we believe, connect with the heartbeat of this house, and discover how God designed you to make an eternal impact. Whether you're brand new or have been here for years, Next Steps is your moment to align with the mission, plant yourself in God's house, and step into your assignment. Because when you get planted in the right environment, potential that's been buried starts to bloom. This is where you get clear. This is where you get connected. This is where you get commissioned.
